This year's institute features some new (as well as familiar) faces: Professor Steve Nickles, Wake Forest School of Law, joins past bankruptcy institute presenter Professor David Epstein, SMU Dedman School of Law, to discuss the role of state law and equity in consumer and business bankruptcy cases. Chapter 13 developments are examined by the Honorable William Houston Brown, formerly with the U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Western District of Tennessee, and Henry (Hank) Hildebrand, III. Other plenary sessions include ethics, litigation techniques, a look at individual Chapter 11 cases, and a mainstay of the Institute, the Judges' Panel. Three breakout sessions cover community property in bankruptcy, aspects of limited representation, and filing preparations for consumer and business cases. Cosponsored by the Creditor Debtor Rights Section of the Washington State Bar and the Debtor-Creditor Section of the Oregon State Bar.

With mortgage foreclosures continuing to make the headlines, this year's bankruptcy institute includes an in-depth look into mortgage management and litigation with a panel of local experts and guest presenters, including the Honorable Keith Lundin and Chapter 13 Trustees Hank Hildebrand and Ronda Winnecour. Other plenary topics cover bankruptcy decisions in the U.S. Supreme Court, debtors and their LLCs and LLPs, and Chapter 13 recent developments. Professor Mark Yochum addresses legal ethics in his presentation, "Positional Conflicts, Pro Bono Publico, and Oaths." Four breakout sessions take a look at Schwab and other exemption topics; the perils and pitfalls of first-day motions; drafting Chapter 13 plans; and judicial authority under Stern v. Marshall. The lunch presentation features Eric Brunstad sharing his experience arguing a bankruptcy case before the U.S. Supreme Court. Cosponsored by the Washington State Bar Association Creditor Debtor Rights Section and the Oregon State Bar Debtor-Creditor Section.

In an area of law that requires your thorough understanding of extraordinarily complex rules, you need a seasoned guide. Bill Henning brings a lifetime of practical experience, teaching, writing, memorable anecdotes, and humor to that critical assignment. Your clients are confronted with an array of third parties—led by the bankruptcy trustee—whose interests in collateral might take priority if you haven’t created airtight transactions. Henning explores and exposes the ins, outs, tricks, and traps of UCC Article 9, and he goes beyond Article 9 to explain practical steps you can take to safeguard the integrity of your clients’ transactions. Henning’s great value to you, however, is his proven ability to take the dense language of Article 9 and apply it to your everyday practice. He has both an encyclopedic knowledge of Article 9 and a depth of practical knowledge, as well as a wealth of specific examples of how Article 9 governs and guides the secured transactions that are the lifeblood of your clients’ businesses. Don’t miss this opportunity to learn the latest about Article 9 and how to seamlessly apply the changes to your practice.
